

Wineries

A comprehensive map of all distilleries, breweries, and wineries can be found at www.edibleLouisville.com.

Kentucky wineries once produced more than 50% of the US grape harvest and wine yield.

Kentucky was home to the first commercial vineyard. Started in 1798 by Jean-Jacques Dufour. The first vintage was produced in 1803 and presented to President Thomas Jefferson who said of the wine...

..."The quality satisfies me that we have found native grapes [the red Alexander grape and the white Madeira grape] ... which gives us wines worthy of the best vineyards of France."

Over half of the wine produced in Kentucky comes from berries and fruit other than grapes. The top selling wine is blackberry wine.

It takes 756 GRAPES to make one bottle of wine. Each glass of wine equals 151 grapes.
